REPEAL RESOLUTION DEFEATED IN BITTER FIGHT AS REPUBLICANS VOTE DRY COMPROMISE PLANK

HOUSE APPROVES CASH BONUS BILL BY 209-176 VOTE

Measure Goes to Smaller
Chamber With Fate
in Doubt and Presidential Veto Assured If Passage Is Secured.

SENATE PROMISES IMMEDIATE TEST

Opponents of Law Cheered by Belief in Ability To Prevent Overriding of Hoover's Veto.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(AP)—The banner of victory was hoisted above the house of representatives today by the army of 20,000 war veterans bivouacked at the capitol to demand immediate payment of their bonus certificates.

By a 209-176 vote, the house agreed to the issuance of $2,400,000,000 in new currency to meet the demands of the veterans who have converged on Washington from all sections of the nation.

Triumphant over their temporary victory, the former service men faced a new struggle in the senate, where leaders predicted they had enough votes to kill the legislation. President Hoover has promised a veto if it reaches the White House.

Opponents of the bill were heartened by the vote today, pointing out that a 200 votes mustered by the advocates of the measure were far from the three-fourths majority needed to override a presidential veto.

The measure was received by the senate late in the day and Senator Thomas, democrat, Oklahoma, asked unanimous consent for it to be taken up at once. Objection was raised, however, by Senator Smoot, republican, Utah, and it was referred to the finance committee.

Smoot, chairman of the committee, promised prompt action, saying his group would be called together early tomorrow morning to consider the bill. He told the senate it was not his intention to keep it in committee but report it out tomorrow so the senate may vote before adjournment.

While veterans looked down from the galleries, the house amended a bill by Representative Patman, democrat, Texas, for full payment to veterans for an issue of government bonds to be used for retiring the currency if the dollar became too cheap.

Proposals for taxing beer to raise funds were ruled out of order. After the vote a few members and one spectator joined in applause as veterans remained orderly and sat of them left immediately after the roll call.

Party lines were disregarded, with 2 democrats, 36 republicans and one labor member voting for the legislation and 20 democrats and 126 republicans against.

Apparently satisfied with the success of the "on to Washington" march, the army of veterans moved on to the city.

Hoover Keeps Hands Off In Running Mate Issue

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(UP)—President Hoover intends to maintain a "hands off" policy in the delicate controversy at Chicago over the selection of a running-mate for him in the coming campaign.

Persons close to Mr. Hoover said he has no intention of being put in a position of seeking to influence the delegates at the republican national convention "in any way whatsoever."

U. S. CANCELLATION OF ALL WAR DEBTS MAY BE SOUGHT

BY MELVIN K. WHITELEATHER.
LAUSANNE, Switzerland, June 15.—(AP)—A request that the United States cancel all war debts was being discussed tonight as the 600 delegates of 13 nations assembled here for tomorrow's opening session of the conference on debts and reparations at which a way to world economic recovery will be sought.

The request to the United States will be presented to the conference in the form of a resolution. Whether such drastic action would be advisable was the topic of debate tonight at numerous private gatherings of the delegates.

The first session of the conference will be held here tomorrow morning. The British prime minister, Ramsay MacDonald, of Great Britain, who is slated to serve as president of the conference, will deliver the keynote speech with which he will open the proceedings.

British spokesmen were authority for the fact that Mr. MacDonald was determined to lead the way to some definite accomplishment before the conference is adjourned.

The first session of the conference will be held here tomorrow morning. The British prime minister, Ramsay MacDonald, of Great Britain, who is slated to serve as president of the conference, will deliver the keynote speech with which he will open the proceedings.

On July 15 German reparations of more than $200,000,000 fall due. The Berlin government has announced it cannot pay them. Tonight, as the conference leaders were holding 11th-hour sessions, an event of extreme importance to five years appeared the most likely method of dealing with this phase of the conference's task.

The German delegation is headed by the new chancellor, Franz von Papen, whose cabinet is predominantly composed of titled junkers who were powers in the old imperial regime.

Some of the foremost statesmen of Europe are here—Ramsay MacDonald, British prime minister; Premier Edouard Herriot, of France; Foreign Minister Dino Grandi, of Italy; and Foreign Minister Paul Hymans, of Belgium.

Mr. MacDonald was host to this group of leaders this afternoon at the hotel where the program of the meeting was prepared.

The United States is not represented by the Washington government's offshore part is of extreme importance, for the deliberations will be carried on in an atmosphere made uncertain by the possible attitude of the United States toward proposals affecting war debts.

The provision officer will be selected at tomorrow's session. After the problem of German reparations has been taken care of, the floor will be free for general discussion of economic troubles that have been afflicting the world.

Those hoping for the success of the conference laid out the importance of the understanding reached by Mr. MacDonald and Mr. Herriot in Paris over the week-end. Mr. MacDonald said he and his colleague had arrived at the basis of a common viewpoint.

The Germans enter the meeting with the backing of the Young plan advisory committee for their contention that they are unable to pay.

102 COMPANIES RULED BY STOCK WORTH $204,057

Holding Organizations
Control Operating Companies Representing $620,532,345.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(AP)—Charles Nodder, federal trade commission examiner, testified today at a hearing on the affairs of the Associated Gas and Electric Company that 102 operating companies were controlled by that company through stock with a total book value of $204,057.

This controlling stock was held, he told the commission, in Associated Utility Investing Corporation, of Delaware; Associated Properties, Inc., and Associated General Electric Company.

The total Associated Gas and Electric Company investments in subsidiary companies, he said, totaled $820,532,345.

Nodder filed a report showing that subsidiary companies and trusts of the associated company were mere bookkeeping units which, in some cases, deposited money received for utilities services rendered to the account of the Associated Gas and Electric Company.

Testifying as to the various methods of appreciating company stock, Nodder mentioned appraisals to market value. It was brought out that late in 1924 E. J. Cheney, consulting engineer, had appraised the properties of the numerous operating companies in the Associated system and had continued these appraisals as additional companies were acquired. Nodder said the appraisals were made on a reproduction basis with calculations for observed depreciation.

Commissioner Edgar McCulloch is presiding over the hearing, conducted by Chief Commission Counsel Robert E. Healy.

In a simultaneous hearing by the commission on the affairs of the Utah Power and Light Company, being conducted by Colonel William T. Chantland before Judge John W. Bennett, trial examiner, A. A. Hartley testified to inflations of $34,330,246 being carried on the books of that company.

Text of Plank on Prohibition Voted by G. O. P. Convention

CHICAGO, June 15.—(AP)—The text of the administration prohibition plank adopted by the republican resolutions committee tonight and accepted early this morning by the convention follows:

The republican party has always stood and stands today for obedience to and enforcement of the law as the very foundation of orderly government and civilization. There can be no national security otherwise.

The duty of the president of the United States and of the officers of the law is clear. The law must be enforced as they find it enacted by the people. To these courses of action we pledge our nominees.

The republican party is and always has been the party of the constitution. Nullification by non-observance by individuals or state action threatens the stability of government.

While the constitution makers sought a high degree of permanence, they foresaw the need of changes and provided for them. Article V limits the proposals of amendments to two methods: (1) two-thirds of both houses of congress may propose amendments; or (2) on application of the legislatures of three-fourths of the states a national convention shall be called by congress to propose amendments.

Referendums without constitutional sanction cannot furnish a decisive answer. Those who propose them innocently are deluded by false hopes; those who propose them knowingly are deceiving the people.

A nation-wide controversy over the eighteenth amendment now distracts attention from the constructive solution of many pressing national problems. The principle of national prohibition as embodied in the amendment was supported and opposed by members of both great political parties. It was submitted to the states by members of congress of different political faith and ratified by state legislatures of different political majorities. It was not then and is now not a partisan political question.

Members of the republican party hold different opinions with respect to it and no public official or member of the party should be pledged or forced to choose between his party affiliations and his honest convictions upon this question.

We do not favor a submission limited to the issue of retention or repeal. For the American nation never in its history has gone backward, and in this case the progress which has been thus far made must be preserved, while the evils must be eliminated.

We, therefore, believe that the people should have an opportunity to pass upon a proposed amendment the provision of which, while retaining in the federal government power to preserve the gains already made in dealing with the evils inherent in the liquor traffic, shall allow states to deal with the problem as their citizens may determine, but subject always to the power of the federal government to protect those states where prohibition may exist and safeguard our citizens everywhere from the return of the saloon and attendant abuses.

Such an amendment should be promptly submitted to the states by congress, to be acted upon by state conventions called for that sole purpose in accordance with the provisions of Article V of the constitution, and adequately safeguarded so as to be truly representative.

Upsetting the report of a special committee, the rules committee of the democratic state executive committee, meeting in Macon Wednesday held that there has been no violation of primary rules in the election of the Fulton county executive committee.

Action of the special committee came after hearing a protest on May 25 filed by a committee representing East Point and Hapeville citizens. This committee, composed of Brown Tyler, D. A. McDuffee and T. M. Kener, contended that the election of the committee was irregular.

Upon the special committee's report, George L. Bell Jr., vice chairman of the Fulton committee, denied that there had been any irregularity in the March election and asserted that the committee had no intention of calling

DAWES BOLSTERS HOPE FOR CURTIS BY KILLING BOOM

Chicagoan Flatly Declares He Cannot Accept Vice Presidential Nomination If Offered.

BY CECIL B. DICKSON.
CHICAGO, June 15.—(AP)—Rebellious delegates unwilling to renominate Vice President Curtis paused only momentarily today upon learning of Charles G. Dawes' emphatic disavowal of candidacy and then began seeking another name to lay before the convention.

In general, the object of their search was a man younger than Curtis and one of less pronounced views. Beyond that, they sought a figure sufficiently prominent and magnetic to solidify behind him the restlessness which is finding its outlet in bucking the administration on the vice presidential issue.

However, all agreed that Curtis sentiment was in the preponderance by far. Curtis opponents, although hopeful of victory, conceded they were fighting an uphill battle in attempting to organize restless elements behind any one man, now that the dynamic and forceful Dawes was out of the running.

Leaders supporting President Hoover in his determination that Curtis again be coupled with him on the party ticket made no secret of the encouragement they drew from Dawes' statement saying in no uncertain terms he would not accept the nomination even though it were offered to him.

Word of the Chicagoan's announcement quickly spread over the convention.

Several delegations immediately climbed onto the Curtis band wagon. For a few hours it seemed the Kansas would have a clear path to the nomination. Then leaders of the opposition began looking for favorite sons.

New Jersey talked of proposing Walter E. Edge, former senator, now ambassador to France. Missouri got behind Governor Henry S. Caulfield. Major General James W. Harbord, retired, and Sanford MacNider, of the accomplishments of prohibition and made more livable conditions of large northern cities.

Clint W. Hager, of Atlanta, said the plan of protection laws of states had been tried before the prohibition amendment was adopted.

Rose, Wilson Williams, secretary of the delegation; E. H. Nichols, second district; J. Eugene Peterson, third district; W. Terrell Kitchens, sixth district; Albert M. Tumlin and Garnett Andrews Jr., seventh district; R. L. Parr, eighth district, and J. Pink Wood, tenth district, favored the recommitment plank.

Those opposing the recommitment plank were: Ben J. Davis, Atlanta

Eviction Threat Fails To Daint Republicans

CHICAGO, June 15.—(AP)—The wolf barked at the door of the republican national convention today, but it was soon chased away.

Sidney Strotz, general manager of the stadium, had said "the republicans won't have any hall tomorrow unless they pay up $8,500 due on construction."

The republican management quickly assured Mr. Strotz the obligation would be met and later the stadium executive said it was "all a misunderstanding."

HOOPER POLICIES ARE FOLLOWED BY CONVENTION

Whole-Hearted Indorsement of Hoover Leadership in Economic Crisis
Given by Committee.

BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON.
CHICAGO, June 15.—(AP)—The 1932 republican platform, carrying the prohibition submission declaration and moulded about the policies of President Hoover, was adopted tonight before the national convention.

The call for submission of a substitute for the eighteenth amendment to state conventions, a guarded departure from the rigid prohibition stand of 1928, stirred a wet and dry upheaval on the floor.

It was in the fashioning of this plank—handed down by the administration leaders close to President Hoover—that the resolutions committee spent most of its 25 hours of almost constant work. The repeal advocates led the fight before it.

Declaring against resubmission of prohibition for retention or repeal, the platform says:

"We believe that the people should have an opportunity to pass upon a proposed amendment the provision of which, while retaining in the federal government power to preserve the gains already made in dealing with the evils inherent in the liquor traffic, shall allow states to deal with the problem as their citizens may determine, but subject always to the power of the federal government to protect those states where prohibition may exist and safeguard our citizens everywhere from the return of the saloon and attendant abuses."

The usually dull national party platform declarations found another departure and surprise in the proposition finally submitted by the committee headed by James R. Garfield, of Ohio—a stinging attack on party irregularity in congress.

It started "clubbush pride of individual opinion" without mentioning names and asserted a majority of congressmen elected in the name of the party have the "right and duty" to determine general policies of the party.

A bare handful of republican members of congress, including none of the party independents who have clashed repeatedly with the Hoover policies, was present to hear this attack.

High Spots of Platform.
Whole-hearted indorsement of the Hoover leadership in the economic crisis.

Emergency loans to states for unemployment relief.
Revision of the banking laws to protect depositors and to regulate banking affiliations.

Participation in international conference on monetary questions, including silver.
Establishment of a home loan discount system.

Encouragement of co-operative marketing through the federal farm board; support of "any plan which will help agriculture balance production against demand," promotion of a national land utilization policy.

Revision through the tariff commission of duties affected by depreciated currencies of foreign countries.
Tariff protection for natural resources, including products of forests, farms, mines and oil wells.

Revision of veterans' legislation.

NO OTHER PLANKS UNDER DISCUSSION

After Defeat of Anti-Dry
Substitute, Platform Is Adopted by Acclamation
at 1:15 This Morning.

CONVENTION STADIUM, CHICAGO, June 16.—(UP)—The republican party early today deserted the ranks of the bone dries, after defeating the flat Bingham repeal plank.

The national convention adopted a platform carrying a plank favoring submission to the states of a program to revise and liberalize the prohibition laws.

Although the platform carried 30 other planks, many of importance in this year of economic depression, the excited throng in the convention hall considered no other factor than the prohibition plank.

Twenty-seven thousand people heard the debate.

The convention refused to substitute the Bingham plank calling for repeal of the eighteenth amendment for the more moderate prohibition plank of its resolutions committee by a vote of 631 to 472.

The platform was then adopted by acclamation and the convention immediately recessed until later this morning.

The roll call on the question of adopting the substitute repeal amendment, was recorded as follows:

HOME LOAN BANK BILL IS PASSED BY HOUSE

Administration's Last Rehabilitation Proposal Sent to Senate.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(AP)—The last of the administration's rehabilitation proposals—that to establish a federal home loan banking system—was passed today by the house and sent to the senate.

The bill was passed without a record vote and with only a few members on the floor.

The bill would create from 8 to 12 home loan banks, capitalized at not less than $5,000,000 each. The government would be liable—through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation—for subscribing up to $125,000,000 of the capital.

The banks would discount mortgages held by members of the system which would be open to building and loan associations, co-operative banks, homestead associations and savings banks.

FIRESTONE FAVORS DRY LAW REPEAL

Former Staunch Supporter of Prohibition Says Law Is Failure.

AKRON, Ohio, June 15.—(AP)—In a brief, blunt statement, Harvey S. Firestone Sr., chairman of the board of the Firestone Tire & Rubber Company, who has favored prohibition since its inception, today declared repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

Citing that prohibition "is working in many ways to the public detriment," Firestone said he has "come to the conclusion that the prohibition amendment should be taken out of the constitution." He offered no substitute for the present regulation of liquor.

"I have for years been active in the interests of temperance. I have been equally active for prohibition, believing it was for the best interests of the people and for a time it was a great help," Firestone's statement said.

"However, due to the fact that prohibition is not being successfully enforced and is working in many ways to the public detriment, especially resulting in disrespect for law and order, I have come to the conclusion that the eighteenth amendment should be repealed."

"I sincerely hope that both republican and democratic parties will adopt a repeal plank in their platforms, thus taking this prohibition question out of politics as it is obscuring from the country the real, vital, economic issues of today, which so sadly need our best thought and our unselfish and undivided effort and energy."

EDISON'S SON DEMANDS REPEAL OF PROHIBITION

SAN FRANCISCO, June 15.—(UP)—Charles Edison, son of the late Thomas A. Edison, and head of the enterprises his father founded, today demanded repeal of the eighteenth amendment, the San Francisco Call-Bulletin declared.

"Prohibition has done much good, but at a price we cannot afford to pay," Edison was quoted. "I should prefer to see repeal."

Edison is on a nation-wide business tour.

BERLIN, June 15.—(UP)—President Paul von Hindenburg today signed a decree lifting the recently imposed ban on Adolf Hitler's brown shirt army.

SPANISH ASSEMBLY UPHOLDS AZANA

MADRID, Spain, June 15.—(AP)—Premier Manuel Azana suddenly demanded and got a vote of confidence in the national assembly Tuesday in debate on charges that a member of his cabinet had granted an illegal tobacco concession.

The vote was 273 to 0, the opposition declining to vote.

The question of confidence was raised in the heat of attacks and counterattacks between cabinet members and leaders of the opposition.

Indalecio Prieto, minister of public works and former finance minister, was accused in the assembly several days ago of having entered into an illegal arrangement with a French concern after nullifying a tobacco concession of Juan March, wealthy Spaniard.

March recently was expelled from the assembly for "moral incompatibility" after charges of bribery were brought against him.

Opposed were Representatives Parker, of Statesboro; Cox, of Camilla; Crisp, of Americus; Ramspeck, of Atlanta; Tarver, of Dalton, and Wood, of Canton.

When the house convened at noon, Representative Charles R. Crisp, minority leader, requested an early vote so that the matter could be disposed of before the Eslick funeral party left in midafternoon for Pulaski, Tenn. Representative Eslick dropped dead yesterday afternoon while urging the house to pass the bonus bill. Judge Crisp was named by the speaker as one of 18 members of the funeral cortege.

"I am opposed to this bill," said Judge Crisp, "but I think it should be speedily passed. We all know it is going to pass this body anyway, because proponents of the measure have the necessary votes."

Although the house took no formal action on the Georgian's request, members heeded his advice because within less than three hours after the house had convened, the bonus measure was passed by a vote of 208 to 170.

The general feeling about the capitol late today was that this is as far as proposed bonus legislation will get in this congress. Unless numerous recruits are won over to the cause of the soldiers, it will be impossible to override a certain presidential veto if the bill should reach the White House. Moreover, a number of representatives are of the opinion that the senate will not even register a vote on the proposition. They say the Patman bill will be buried in committee in the upper chamber where it will not survive adjournment.

Place your telephone on "Temporary Suspension" During your vacation . . .

It is not necessary for you to give up your telephone when you go away on your vacation. You can have your service suspended during your absence, and restored promptly on your return.

The "temporary suspension" plan offered telephone subscribers eliminates such items as the signing of a new application on your return; time required for a new installation; and the loss of your present number and listing in the directory.

Under the "temporary suspension" plan, persons calling your number are informed that you have requested us to discontinue your telephone temporarily, thus indicating to your friends that you are out of town. If your vacation address is furnished, callers will be told that you may be reached at this address.

The "temporary suspension" plan is available whenever you will be absent from home for a period of not less than one month nor more than four months. The rate for telephone service under this convenient arrangement is one-half your regular rate.

Spanish Leaders Held In Monarchist Plot

MADRID, June 15.—(UP)—Juan March, multi-millionaire deputy who had been described on the floor of parliament as "the arch-enemy" of the republic, was arrested tonight shortly after the government had imprisoned a group of alleged leaders in a monarchist plot.

March was arrested on charges of irregularities in obtaining the Moroccan tobacco monopoly during the dictatorship of General Primo De Rivera, prior to the fall of the monarchy. The cortes previously had voted to waive parliamentary immunity to permit his imprisonment in the cartel model.

The arrest of the widely-known millionaire followed a series of arrests in Madrid and Barcelona, where half a dozen military officials were detained, reported in connection with monarchist activities.

The most sensational arrest was that of General Emilio Barrera, who was a captain general of Catalonia during the monarchist days and was a trusted friend of exiled King Alfonso. He was seized in Barcelona, and taken to Madrid.

VIOLET SHARPE IS LAID TO REST NEAR SEN. MORROW

ENGLEWOOD, N. J., June 15.—(AP)—Violet Sharpe, English servant girl in the home of Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, was buried today after a brief service attended by fellow members of the Morrow household and the acting British consul-general who has been instructed to make a report on the girl's suicide five days ago.

The simple cloth-covered casket was borne to a grave in Brookside cemetery, 200 feet from where rests the body of the late Senator Dwight W. Morrow, grandfather of the murdered Lindbergh baby.

No member of the Morrow or Lindbergh family attended the final rites. Gerald Shepherd, the acting British consul-general at New York, immediately after the funeral went to the Morrow estate to confer with Arthur Springer, the late senator's secretary, from whom he obtained facts to aid him in drafting his report. Shepherd expects to complete his report in less than a week and have it delivered to the office of foreign affairs in London within a fortnight.

EARLY BRITISH PROBE IN SHARPE CASE SOUGHT

LONDON, June 15.—(AP)—A labor member in the house of commons today demanded to know whether the government was inquiring about the "application of third-degree methods to a British subject" and he was referring to the police questioning of Violet Sharpe, a figure in the Lindbergh case.

Referring to the suicide of Miss Sharpe between periods of police questioning, F. S. Cocks asked that the inquiry of the British government be expedited. This he said was necessary "in view of the general feeling in both countries that this poor girl was bullied to death by the action of the police."

Holford, Knight, national laborite and government supporter, countered with the inference that there was no authority or foundation for Cocks' allegation arising from statements in extreme sections of the press.

EDGE WILL RESIGN PARIS POST MARCH 4

CHICAGO, June 15.—(AP)—Ambassador Walter E. Edge plans to resign his Paris post March 4 and does not intend to accept reappointment in the event of republican victory at the polls this fall, it has been learned.

Although some members of the Jersey delegation think he would accept if chosen as President Hoover's running mate, Edge indicated here that because of his family he should devote himself to care of his personal fortune, depreciated along with many others, by the depression.

Everest Flight Again

NEW YORK, June 15.—(AP)—Ambitious plans for a second attempt to conquer Mount Everest by air were outlined today by Richard Halliburton, Tennessee adventurer, back from his latest 50,000-mile junket in search of bizarre experiences.

In their ship "Flying Carpet," Halliburton and his pilot, More Stephens, could climb only 18,000 feet, flying in crazy canyons. Next summer they plan to take a plane which can soar above the 29,000-foot summit of the world's highest peak.

Halliburton told how he flew over the Sahara desert to Timbuctoo, and started a Bureau head-hunters with their first sight of a plane.

In Borneo, he and his pilot coaxed a bold chieftain to take his first air spin—after holstering his courage with rice wine. The native didn't know airplanes existed.

Floor of Convention.

CHICAGO, June 15.—(AP)—All avenues for further contests over the seating of delegates at the republican national convention were closed today by adoption of the credentials committee report by the convention.

The convention's action put a stop to efforts to bring the South Carolina contest to the floor of the convention and placed the credentials committee report on the faction stamp of approval on the faction headed by J. C. Hambright.

Joseph W. Tolbert, leader of the delegation that was unsated by the credentials committee, had hoped to have a member of the republican national committee carry his appeal to the floor of the convention but failing in this he decided to drop the contest.

Except for South Carolina, the credentials committee confirmed the temporary roll call adopted by the national committee.

ATHENS WOMAN HEADS GEORGIA CHAPTER O.E.S.

Atlanta Named Grand Patron at Convention Now in Macon.

MACON, Ga., June 15.—(P)—Miss Ethel Jackson, of Athens, and Harry Garrett, Atlanta, were named worthy grand patron and patron, respectively, of the Georgia chapter of the Order of Eastern Star at the thirty-first annual convention of the organization here today.

Miss Jackson succeeds Mrs. Annie Graham Ward, of Dublin, while Mr. Garrett succeeds L. M. Rhoden, of Reidsville.

Mrs. Donna Lawhon, Decatur, Ga., was selected associate grand patron, succeeding Miss Jackson. The convention followed the usual custom of "moving up" the officers.

Other officers who were named today included Mrs. Rowena C. Ward, Valdosta, grand secretary, and Mrs. Annie Ballou, grand treasurer. Both have held their offices for a number of years.

Miss Irene Arden, Statesboro, was elevated from associate grand patron to grand patron, and Mrs. Marcus Jewett, Rossville, was elected associate grand patron.

Miss Jackson announced her appointments as follows: Mrs. Bessie Spikes, Macon, grand chaplain; Mrs. Julia Turner, Atlanta, grand lecturer; Mrs. Marie Florence, Athens, grand marshal; Mrs. Kate Massey, Atlanta, grand organist; Mrs. Ruth Hancock, Atlanta, grand altar; Mrs. Nina Cates, Albany, grand altar; Mrs. Margaret Crane, Atlanta, grand altar; Mrs. Irwin Williams, Atlanta, grand altar; Mrs. Mary Groover, Moultrie, grand altar; Mrs. Marie MacDowell, Columbus, grand altar; Dr. S. C. Moon, Athens, grand altar; Mrs. Mignie Brock, Brunswick, grand altar.

The officers of Mrs. Ellen Nichols, of the Athens chapter, were named.

Berries, Vegetables Cheap in Americus

AMERICUS, Ga., June 15.—Recent rains about Americus have resulted in an abundant crop of blackberries, peas and snap beans, as a result of which the local market is flooded with these edibles. Luscious berries may now be bought for less than a nickel a quart from house-to-house peddlers, and vegetables generally are selling for unprecedented low prices. Failure of the Americus canning plant to operate and furnish a commercial market for large quantities of berries and vegetables has caused considerable loss to growers throughout the county.

MACON LEGION POST WANTS CASH BONUS

MACON, June 15.—(P)—The American Legion post here last night instructed its delegates to the state convention to vote for immediate cash payment of the bonus.

Other officers of the delegation resigned their jobs because they opposed the plan.

The Legionnaires instructed their delegates by a standing vote after a request for a secret ballot was overruled. General Walter A. Harris, general chairman of the committee on arrangements for the convention, which will be held here June 23-25, asked that his appointment as a delegate be withdrawn because he opposes immediate cash payment of the bonus.

"I think it is not best for the country," he said. "You are asking for cash payment of the bonus when there is no cash."

John J. McCreary, Captain S. D. Redinger, and Howard Craig and Mrs. Judith Wiley also resigned from the delegation. Several other delegates said they would follow instructions regardless of personal opinions.

Augusta, historian, and Mrs. Tallulah E. Atkins, G. M. Cordle, parliamentarian, were not filled.

LOWER PRICED ROADS FORESEEN FOR STATE

ATHENS, Ga., June 15.—Durable, low-priced highways for Georgia are now in sight in the opinion of Dr. Charles M. Strahan, head of the department of civil engineering, University of Georgia.

Dr. Strahan, known as "the father" of Georgia's highway department, was the first chairman of the state highway board and is an eminent engineer. His revolution that experiments are now under way in Georgia.

Dr. Strahan is deeply impressed with the results of the experiments and attaches considerable significance to them as a solution of the problem of meeting the increasing demand for highways in Georgia at a cost less than that required for concrete paving. The new, low-priced but durable type of paving which Strahan advocates, ranges in cost from $3,500 per mile to $10,000, against a mileage cost ranging from $17,000 to $20,000 for concrete.

"Thor's Vitamin Got Me Off of Crutches" Declares J. J. Lively

Of the many remarkable statements appearing in the public press regarding the wonderful benefits received from the new yeast vitamins, copper and iron treatment, Thor's Vitamin Compound, none is more remarkable, perhaps, than that of J. J. Lively, 928 Curran street, custodian of the North Atlanta Baptist church.

"I was barely able to drag around on crutches and had practically given up hope of ever being any better," declared Mr. Lively. "I have suffered from stomach trouble for fifteen years up until I took this new treatment, and five years ago rheumatism set in; since then nobody can imagine the agony I have gone through, or the gratitude I feel for Thor's Vitamin Compound for the change it has brought about in my condition."

"My knees would swell up until they would get as big as my head and if a knife had been sticking in my flesh the pain could not have been greater. At times I could not get out of my chair, or even feed myself. I did not want to eat, anyway, for my appetite was entirely gone; but the little I forced down to keep alive would bring on such terrible indigestion I could hardly get my breath. Often I lay awake all night long unable to get a moment's relief from the pain and suffering. Naturally, my nerves were all to pieces, and I lost weight until I was 'nothing but skin and bones,' as the saying is."

"I tried every treatment and medicine I knew about but my troubles seemed to get a firmer grip on me every day, and I had just about given up hope entirely when an old friend persuaded me to try the new vitamins, copper and iron treatment. The benefits I have received from it are so astonishing they seem almost beyond belief. Within a week the rheumatic pains left me and my appetite returned. Now, I have laid aside my crutches and walk anywhere I want to go, even to town. I get so hungry I can hardly wait for meal time, and my food digests without a particle of trouble. My sleep is sound and restful, and I feel more like my old-time self than in many years. There is nothing, too good I can say for Thor's Vitamin Compound. It is simply wonderful."

In commenting on Mr. Lively's statement, a representative of Thor's Vitamin Compound said: "It is not unusual for the new vitamin, copper and iron treatment to alleviate rheumatism, other complaints of obscure or known origin, because it thoroughly cleanses the system of impurities, aids in building rich, red blood pulses that resist disease, strengthen the body. Digestive disturbances often are the source of many distressing conditions, and when stomach is put in good condition other symptoms naturally disappear. The new treatment has relieved many such cases."

Thor's Vitamin Compound of yeast vitamins, copper and iron may be purchased at all good drug stores for fifty cents (adv.).

sponsored by the highway department which have resulted in the above conclusion is contained in a series of articles which begins in the current issue of "Georgia Highways," official organ of the state highway department.

BLACK RENOMINATED BY ALABAMA BALLOT

Senator Rolls Up Majority of Approximately 27,000
Over Kilby.

BY T. M. DAVENPORT.
MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 15.—(AP)—Alabama democrats have renominated Senator Hugo Black, of Birmingham, who has announced he would vote to submit the prohibition question to the people.

Senator Black polled a majority of approximately 27,000 over former Governor Thomas E. Kilby, who signed many of the state's drastic dry laws, but also favored a referendum.

The tabulation of returns from 1,873 out of 2,136 ballot boxes gave Black 95,895; Kilby 69,558. There was no indication of how the "dry" vote, generally conceded to Black in the first primary, was split in the second, but at least a part of it went to Kilby.

Meanwhile, the veteran congressman, Miles B. Allgood, who for ten years has represented the seventh Alabama district, held a slight lead over Representative Lafayette L. Patterson in the fifth district.

Representative Patterson said the Associated Press tabulation of 234 out of 245 ballot boxes in the district, which gave Allgood 9,776 and himself 9,605, was about in line with his own figures.

Former Governor Kilby this afternoon conceded his defeat by Senator Black, adding that he believed the people would understand the reason for his campaign.

Kilby from the start of his candidacy favored a referendum, but it was not until after the first primary, in which he failed by a few hundred votes of nomination, that Senator Black announced his stand for a referendum.

Black, through the first primary, was conceded the support of the "drys," as J. Bibb Mills, superintendent of the Alabama Anti-Saloon League, was active in his behalf. After his announcement for a referendum, F. M. Jackson, a member of the board of directors of the Anti-Saloon League, came out for Kilby.

The former governor, during his campaign, charged Black, through announcing for a referendum, had "double-crossed" the drys.

EXTRA $15 ORDERED PAID TO VETERANS

The June payment of $30 to Confederate veterans is now ready and being paid. Pensioners of the John J. Hunt announced Wednesday, but although the money is available for payment of $15 due since last year, actual payment cannot be made until legal technicalities are cleared up.

The commissioner announced every effort would be made to clear the way for payment of the past due money so that veterans could receive it prior to the Confederate reunion in Richmond, June 21, but it seemed unlikely all clerical work could be accomplished by that time even though the legal obstacles were removed.

The $15 past due represents half a month's pension for which no appropriation was available last year.

International Heads of Pilot Club Confer; 3-Day Convention To Open This Morning

Officers and prominent delegates to the International Convention of Pilot Clubs, which opens this morning at the Biltmore hotel for a three-day session, shown as they attended an informal meeting at the hotel Wednesday afternoon. From left to right they are: Mrs. W. V. Barlow, of Atlanta, who was first president of the Atlanta Pilot Club, and is president of the K. C. Dann Realty Company; Mrs. Robert Chapman, of El Paso, Texas, international secretary, and deputy tax collector of El Paso county, Texas; and Mrs. Ed Bond, of Atlanta, president of the Atlanta Pilot Club, and treasurer of the Brandon, Bond and Condon Company. A severe illness prevented Mrs. Nell S. Gardner, of El Paso, Texas, from being photographed with these delegates by George Cornett.

International and Atlanta officers of the Pilot Club held an unofficial council at the Biltmore hotel Wednesday afternoon, preceding the opening at 9 o'clock this morning of the international convention of Pilot Clubs, which will convene through Saturday at the hotel.

Two hundred outstanding business women from over the United States are expected as delegates to the convention of Pilot Clubs, of which Mrs. Nell S. Gardner, of the Gardner Commercial school, El Paso, Texas, is international president.

Mrs. Gardner was unable to participate in Wednesday's informal meeting because of illness, but fellow officers were hopeful that she would recover sufficiently this morning to preside over the executive session of the board of directors and officers, which will begin the convention followed by a business meeting.

Prominent officers present at Wednesday's council were Mrs. Ed Bond, president of the Atlanta Pilot Club and treasurer of Brandon, Bond & Condon; Mrs. W. V. Barlow, first president of the Atlanta organization, who is president of the K. C. Dann Realty Company, and Mrs. Robert Chapman, of El Paso, Texas, international secretary, and deputy tax collector of El Paso county, Texas.

The Pilot clubs are composed of representative business women of American cities and are said to be the feminine equivalent of the organization of Rotary clubs.

COMMITTEE PLANS BIG BENEFIT DANCE FOR POOR CHILDREN

Plans for a big charity relief dance to be given at the city auditorium were announced Wednesday by the woman's division of the emergency relief committee, which last winter devoted its energies toward providing food and clothes for needy Atlanta children. The public dance will be held on the night of July 16, and tickets already are on sale, it was said Wednesday.

All proceeds from the sale of tickets to the public dance, it was explained, will be devoted to relief work during the coming season among poor children of Atlanta. It is hoped that children who otherwise would not be able to return to school next September will be provided with shoes and clothing through sale of dance tickets.

During last winter the woman's division of the committee on relief cut out and sewed approximately 18,000 garments for children of parents who could not find employment. Garments were made on 15 sewing machines operated by volunteer women workers, and these were distributed as fast as the machines could turn them out.

The Cream of the Flock in Foods for You

We know cows come in herds, not flocks; but we're talking about foods, not cows. To wit: More people are eating in Davison-Paxon's immediate neighborhood every day.

A little more than 5 years ago, when this new store opened its doors, Davison's Restaurant and the Capital City Club were the only eating places of any importance in this part of town except the Hotels.

Since that time, traffic at Peachtree and Ellis streets has increased fully three times and eating places have increased about five times. Restaurants must be located in districts where there is the most traffic activity. When a new business district gets to be a busy business district, restaurants follow the crowd. Few people have time enough to travel very far at lunch time, and yet many people come to this district for their lunch from a considerable distance, because a majority of the best lunch places in Atlanta are within a few blocks of Peachtree and Ellis streets.

Eating is important.
What you eat is more important.
Therefore, where you eat is most important!

Davison-Paxon's restaurant specializes in two luncheons, one at 50c, and another at 75c, believing that most people do not want to spend any more than this for their mid-day meal, and believing that it is not necessary to spend any more than that to get wholesome food, well cooked, and in sufficient quantity for anyone. The choice of individual dishes offers a considerable variety if a la carte service is preferred. Special attention is given during the summer months to the preparation of the kind of food, cold or hot, that Atlanta people have shown their preference for. The cooking, we boastfully believe, is the best in Atlanta.

At Davison's you can eat at any hour of the day, and at any level—floor level and price level. In addition to the sixth floor Restaurant, there is a Soda Fountain and those well-known cozy alcoves with tables where light food is served, and sandwiches are made when you order them. It is a treat to watch that fellow make sandwiches. He often makes from 1,000 to 1,250 a day.

In the Basement, which is cooled with refrigerated air during the warm summer weather until it is the coolest place in town to eat. There is another soda fountain and lunch counter serving practically the same food as the upstairs restaurant, but at lower prices, without quite so much service, if you don't mind eating at a lunch counter.

Now in the arcade between the store and the Henry Grady Hotel, there is a refreshment bar that will look familiar to some older people, and interesting to the younger ones. There is no free lunch, but as nearly free as you can get it. Soft drinks of all kinds, sandwiches, hard boiled eggs, and Hunkies may be consumed with your foot on the rail. This will be a good place to meet your friends for that "pause that refreshes," and probably hear the broadcast of the ball game.

FIRESTONE FAVORS DRY LAW REPEAL

Former Staunch Supporter of Prohibition Says Law Is Failure.

AKRON, Ohio, June 15.—(AP)—In a brief, blunt statement, Harvey S. Firestone Sr., chairman of the board of the Firestone Tire & Rubber Company, who has favored prohibition since its inception, today declared for repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

Citing that prohibition "is working in many ways to the public detriment," Firestone said he has "come to the conclusion that the prohibition amendment should be taken out of the constitution."

"I have for years been active in the interests of temperance," he said, "and I have been equally active for prohibition, believing it was for the best interests of the people and for a time it was a great help."

"However, due to the fact that prohibition is not being successfully enforced and is working in many ways to the public detriment, especially resulting in disrespect for law, and other things, I have come to the conclusion that the eighteenth amendment should be repealed."

"I sincerely hope that both republican and democratic parties will adopt a repeal plank in their platforms, thus taking this prohibition question out of politics as it is obscuring from the country the real, vital, economic issues of today, which so sadly need our best thought and our unselfish and undivided effort and energy."

EDISON'S SON DEMANDS REPEAL OF PROHIBITION
SAN FRANCISCO, June 15.—(UP)—Charles Edison, son of the late Thomas A. Edison, and head of the enterprises his father founded, today demanded repeal of the eighteenth amendment, the San Francisco Call-Bulletin declared.

"Prohibition has done much good, but at a price we cannot afford to pay," Edison was quoted. "I should prefer to see repeal."

Edison is on a nation-wide business tour.

GLOOM SAYS SPEECH SOUNDED LIKE EDEN

back to work and headed off a drop in agricultural prices.

"Whether this was a description of some Eden of the past, or some Utopia of the future, I did not know; but it certainly sounded good as that leather-junged statesman boomed it out. And it was quite a while before I came to me with a sudden shock that he was talking about the United States under the administration of Herbert Hoover."

"But criticism," Dickinson's speech as a literary production, as I suppose we must, it seems to me he was guilty of misty metaphors. Pretty soon I hear him mention Hoover by name, as the captain who alone has demonstrated his capacity to steer the economic ship into a safe harbor. As I remember Mr. Hoover's campaign speeches of 1928 his intentions were terrestrial, not aquatic; he promised to drive the new sedan into a two-car garage. I only hope he's better at finding a harbor on a dark night than he was at locating that two-car garage we heard so much about back in those days.

"However," continued Mr. Gloom, finishing his coffee and reaching for his gold-mounted quill toothpick. "Dickinson showed a very commendable degree of courage. Ever since I got here I been wonderin' what the republicans are goin' to point to with pride this year. But Dickinson, he knew all the time. He pointed with pride to everything, even the farm board and the fact that the Hoover administration has managed to put more men in jail than were ever in jail before. Some of 'em were even Mr. Hoover's old lodge brothers from the Harding cabinet, though Dickinson forgot to mention that."

"When a man says that if it wasn't for us republicans you fellows that are working three days a week would not be working at all, you can give him the blue ribbon as the champion pride-point of the United States."

"And Dickinson was powerful, too, in his denunciation of free silver and quotation from the republican platform of 1896," went on Mr. Gloom. "If the democratic nominee Bryan again you can set Dickinson down as a good keynoter. But the news that Bryan was dead must have percolated even to those democrats who are still, as a friend of mine in the press gallery put it, votin' the way they shot at the battle of the Boogie. Anyway, you got to give Dickinson this much credit. The whole point of his speech, in so far as there was one, was an appeal to fear, and certainly there is an awful lot of fear to appeal to this summer."

"In private," the reporter ventured, "a great many of the delegates express great dissatisfaction with President Hoover. Do you think?"

"I don't think what republicans say in private matters much," Mr. Gloom interrupted, "unless they say it in a smoke-filled room."

"Still," observed the reporter, "you hear it said that Coolidge's name was deliberately omitted from the keynote for fear it would set off a demonstration. Don't you find a good deal of sentiment among the delegates in favor of a distinguished republican ex-president?"

"I certainly do," Mr. Gloom agreed. "From their behavior of this mornin' I think they could easily be stamped for Abraham Lincoln. But I don't know that Lincoln could qualify, even if he was alive today. So far as I am familiar with the public utterances of the great emancipator, he never told a waiting nation that there was nothing alarming in the increase of brokers' loans."

ment so far, a number of veterans were preparing tonight to return to their homes.

A considerable increase in illness due to damp grounds and lack of shelter for all of the men now in Washington had tempered the spirits of the men who arrived during the past week.

As the time approached for a vote the debate became more tense. At one time it looked as though colleagues would have to intervene in a heated argument between Representative Blanton, democrat, Texas, and Representative Martin, democrat, Oregon, a former army officer.

Martin was advancing toward Blanton when friends offered cooling counsel, and he took his seat.

Under the sole amendment adopted, the house provided that the federal reserve board be given power to conduct open market operations and sell parts of a special bond issue as required to prevent the purchasing power of the dollar from dropping more than two per cent below its 1928 level.

Representative Rankin, democrat,

Mississippi, said "the passage of this bill will revive business and start us on the upgrade." He added the veterans' encampment had been more orderly "than a national political convention."

Meanwhile, hasty arrangements, believed by police to be inadequate, were made to take care of the veterans' health. A sudden withdrawal of the marine corps medical detail after other agencies had declined to cooperate, left a serious gap in the organization to care for the ragged army.

Food in abundance, purchased from veterans' funds or donated privately, was available at the camp.

To discourage individual begging on the streets, Walter W. Waters, their commander-in-chief, issued orders that any man caught begging for individual relief would be barred from the camp.

Waters admitted that a few of his army were leaving but immediately took measures to suppress the evacuation movement, urging that the veterans not only stay but write home "for more to come."

He advised "passive resistance" to any effort by police or local authorities to move the army from the city. Sunshine—the first in four days—dried out of the sticky mud holes in the camp and made the crude shelters more livable.

Just before adjournment, Representatives Gannett, democrat, South Carolina, and Maas, republican, Minnesota, told the speaker that they had voted for the bonus but were not listed on the roll call. Permission was granted to add their names.

"Grave consideration was given to the certainty that the city and county both will face a financial crisis next year even more serious than the one now existing due to the shrinkage in cause of good government, according to a joint statement issued after the conference. The city now has an efficiency expert studying the various departments with the view of creating greater efficiency at lower cost. This expert is W. Evans Chambers, auditor of the city construction department.

"The high cost of government is one problem and not two problems, in connection with our city and county," said Mr. Mizell. "Both Mayor Key and Mr. Etheridge exhibited the right spirit in our conference, and the result of the conference is one of the most encouraging signs in a long time. I firmly believe that we will accomplish something."

The joint statement declared that the three men met for the purpose of "discussing frankly and without reservations the problems of the government and the taxpayers and with the determination of arriving at some definite solution in the interest of the whole people. The situation was approached and discussed without regard to political expediency and with the ultimate good of the community in view, each of those present pledged his best efforts to bring the two governments into a sympathetic accord with the support of the large majority of the taxpayers."

"Grave consideration was given to the certainty that the city and county both will face a financial crisis next year even more serious than the one now existing due to the shrinkage in real estate taxes and other revenues of governments and that economies now being put into effect will not of themselves be sufficient to meet the situation. It was agreed that taxpayers and employees of both governments should be informed now of the gravity of the situation and of the certain necessity that concessions must be made by all.

"The taxpayers will not be able to obtain all the relief to which they are entitled nor will either government be able to maintain the appropriations this year available to the various departments. All present at the conference were of the opinion that the problem is one that calls for the best and most serious thought of all citizens both within and outside the city limits and that the taxpayers should be fully informed that the future prosperity of the entire community depends to a great extent on all groups putting aside selfish interests and joining forces in efforts to meet the problem with practical plans for its solution."

The committee of citizens which will receive the report of the survey is to be charged with the duty of making definite recommendations to the city and county governments and of submitting a workable plan to enable both governments to operate on reduced costs, it was said. The committee also is to be charged with making detailed recommendations as to legislation and other matters with the expectation that the plan will be one that both governments can accept and carry out.

Both the city and county governments this year have been faced by the necessity of making salary cuts and effecting various economies in order to live within their budgets. The city board of education Tuesday adopted a payless vacation plan for its employees in an effort to meet a loss in revenue under the curtailed June finance sheet, this cut being in addition to a 10 per cent donation of teachers' salaries. The county commission is at present working on the problem of cutting down expenditures without seriously impairing greatly needed appropriations to charities. County economies included this year a substantial slash in wages, and all city employees have been cut 10 per cent and forced to take payless vacations.

ing for a second election of a new committee in the September primary. The rules committee made the following statement after the Macon meeting:

"Under the 1930 rules of the state democratic committee all county committees were required to be elected in the state primary. We are informed that Fulton county complied with the rule by electing its committee at the September, 1930 primary.

"The present rules are in respect to time of election of county committees, identical with those of 1930. The Fulton county committee complied with those rules, so we are informed. The official ballot will provide for the election of county committees. We will not assume that the Fulton county committee will not follow the 1930 state rules. If and when that is done, the question can be presented to the state committee to be passed upon. Until there is an actual violation, this committee can take no action."

A WISE AND TIMELY MOVE.

The proposed joint survey of the city and county governments, to be submitted to a group of 15 leading citizens for suggestions looking towards economies and increased efficiency, is a wise and sensible step towards meeting the critical situation with which both governments will be faced next year.

Mayor Key and the board of county commissioners agree that it will be much harder for the local governments to balance their budgets next year than it has been even this year. Decreasing property valuations and business revenues will be reflected in a sharp reduction in tax receipts and the only sane thing to do is to begin now to trim our governmental lists accordingly.

Such a survey if impartially and efficiently made should reveal ways in which immense savings can be brought about.

It is a fine move towards meeting next year's emergency by putting the affairs of both city and county governments on a business-like, economical basis in keeping with conditions.

The work of making the survey should be so conducted as to remove it from the charge of partiality or politics, and the mayor, the county commission and the taxpayers' league should exert every effort to secure able and patriotic citizens on the committee to review the survey.

If this is done there is reason to believe that reforms will be accomplished that will in time have the double result of bringing about better government and lightening the load of the taxpayers.

The S. O. S. the people are sending to congress is "Settle On Something."

GLOOM RULES AT DOOR.

Recent suggestions that the former German crown prince be given a high ranking position in the present democratic form of government of the country have met bitter opposition from the ex-kaiser, with a subsequent further widening of the breach which has recently taken place in the Hohenzollern family.

The former all-highest is said to have flown into a rage when informed that his eldest son was favorably considering the suggestion made in some German newspapers that he align himself with the present government. The ex-kaiser is reported as having taken the position that the election even to the presidency of a Hohenzollern would lower the prestige of the family name.

Since the former crown prince and his brothers are still entirely dependent upon their exiled father for existence, the democratic ambition of the eldest son promptly evaporated.

So bitter has become the internal dissension in the family that the last celebration at Doorn of the ex-kaiser's birthday was broken up by a violent row between the Princess Hermine and the crown prince, in which the entire family joined in, and which resulted in the calling off, at the last minute, of a dinner party to which a hundred guests had been invited.

Since that day, when the stubbornness of the former monarch dealt what was probably a death blow to any hope that the family might again gain prominence in the government of the country, he is declared to have become increasingly morose. He is even given up his wood cutting and spends most of his time in his library.

It is reported that the hermit of Doorn has now abandoned the hope to which he has tenaciously clung of being permitted to visit the Japan in Turmoil.

What is the meaning of the unrest in Japan? Bombs have been thrown, ministers are murdered and high-placed dignitaries of state are wearing steel vests fearing attacks. Japan's tragedy has entered a new phase. The revolt against modernization has broken out in the open. There were always men who protested against making Japan an imitation western nation. They are now making school rapidly.

Westernization has brought no happiness. Japan is in dire straits. There can be no question about it any longer. So what? Young officers and nationalists think they have the remedy. Back to the old national virtues. No truck or trade with western parliamentary procedure. Let the emperor violence vested autocratic powers. Once we were a great and noble people. Let us go back to those days and we will be happy again.

So runs the advice of the nationalists. But that advice rests upon a fallacy for the simple reason that the work toward the past. The past cannot be brought back. The process of westernization has gone too far. There can be no going back at this time.

All that display of violence only corresponds to the march of the march of events cannot be stayed by assassinations of prime ministers. For their presence or absence makes no difference to the fundamental currents that are coursing beneath the surface in the world today.

SOVIET COLLAPSE PREDICTED.

The two most determined opponents in Europe of the Russian soviet republics have been Ivar Kreuger, immensely powerful and wealthy, whose recent suicide preceded the collapse of his companies, and Sir Henry Deterding, Dutch-born British knight, who is head of the great Royal Dutch and other companies, and the principal rival throughout the world of the Rockefeller interests.

Now the soviet is busily engaged in spreading rumors that Deterding's companies are on the verge of a colossal collapse similar to that of the Kreuger interests, which are nailed as pure fabrications by Deterding and the statement that his fight against Russia "will go on to the bitter end."

The feud between Deterding and the soviet dates back to the time when the latter confiscated the extensive oil holdings of the Royal Dutch Shell in southern Russia and declared them state property. Now he advocates foreign intervention in the affairs of the U. S. S. R. "to save western civilization and commerce."

For many years Kreuger, because Moscow would not give him the match monopoly of Russia, financed Poland and Roumania in their military preparedness against the soviet and gave huge sums to various anti-soviet movements.

At the same time Deterding was the chief financial backer of the military organizations maintained by the hundreds of thousands of white Russians scattered throughout Europe.

Far from being discouraged over the soviet-claimed success of the five-year-plan, Deterding feels that "the present regime in Moscow cannot endure." He bases his conviction upon reports from "private sources of information, most complete information, which show the situation to be utterly precarious and on the verge of collapse. If the bolsheviks fail, prosperity would return tomorrow and a prosperity such as we have never had before."

The opposition of business interests as powerful and widespread as those headed by Deterding are a more serious threat to the soviet than the political threat of governmental opposition in other European countries.

It will be interesting to watch the developments in this bitter feud between the government which stole the assets of Deterding's companies and which now, apparently with no ground, is attempting to shake confidence in them, and the giant of finance who predicts a successful end to his war against sovietism.

Complete Text of Republican Platform As Introduced at Chicago Convention

CHICAGO, June 15.—(AP)—The republican platform declarations submitted to the convention follow:

Introduction.

We, the representatives of the republican party, this convention assembled, renew our pledges to the principles and traditions of our party and dedicate it anew to the service of the nation.

We meet in a period of widespread distress and of an economic depression that has swept the country. The work of the second session of the convention is to meet the challenge of a great war. The human suffering occasioned may well exceed that of a period of actual conflict.

We are confronted with a political problem that challenges our citizens and government alike to break the back of the depression, to restore the economic life of the nation and to bring encouragement and relief to the thousands of American families that are sorely afflicted.

The people are themselves, by their own courage, their own patient and resolute effort in the readjustments of their own affairs, can and will work out the solution of our task as a party, by leadership and a wise determination of policy, to assist that recovery.

The task we pledge all that our party possesses in capacity, leadership, resourcefulness and ability. Republicans collectively and individually in nation and state, we pledge to the nation and to the world the promise of American life is once more fulfilled.

For nearly three years the world has endured an economic depression of unparalleled extent and severity. The patience and courage of our people have been severely tested. The institutions, and in their future remains unshaken. When victory comes, as it will, this generation will hand on to the next a great heritage unimpaired.

This will be due in large measure to the quality of the leadership that this country has had during the crisis. We have had, during the White House a leader—wise, courageous, patient, understanding, resourceful, ever present at his post of duty, tireless in his efforts to bring about a return to American principles and ideals.

At the outset of the depression, when no man could foresee its depth and when the nation was in danger of averting much distress by securing agreement between industry and labor to maintain wages and by stimulating production and consumption.

Throughout the depression, through the unemployment has been limited by the systematic use of part-time employment and action to relieve distress by general discharge of employees. Wage scales have not been reduced except under compelling necessity. As a result there has been no strike, no less social disturbance than during any similar period of hard times.

The suffering and want occasioned by the depression have been minimized by the prompt mobilization of the resources of the Red Cross and of the government. During the trying months of 1931-32, the national organization to relieve distress was brought into being under the leadership of the president. Welfare Council Told of County's Attempts To Re-instate Donations.

Efforts undertaken by the Fulton county commission to work out economies in government which will assure reinstatement of funds for welfare societies in the county appropriations were described Wednesday afternoon by Paul S. Etheridge, chairman of the commission, and Frank H. Neely, president of the Atlanta Community Chest, in talks before members of the Social Welfare Council.

Carolina Court Denies Plea of 'Forgotten Man'

RALEIGH, N. C., June 15.—(UP)—Willie Rector, condemned to be electrocuted, and forgotten by the state for nine months, had his appeal dismissed today by the state supreme court.

Rector was supposed to die last August, but due to a court clerk's error, the execution order has never been given. Last month the error was discovered and the supreme court took up the long delayed appeal.

The only hope for the youth, convicted of assaulting a white girl, is a commutation by Governor O. Max Gardner.

"We have taken the viewpoint which is rapidly becoming that of every thinking person, that our community is in a distressing condition," said the commission chairman. "It is indeed sick. The customary things in our scheme of existence and operation must be sidetracked. This business of living and of human welfare is the most important."

Mr. Neely, asserting that the commissioners deserved sympathy and help of the community rather than criticism, that they were striving desperately to remedy a condition and a system which they inherited, expressed the hope also that appropriations for Chest agencies would be restored, but asserted a doubt that the unemployment relief funds could go back on the county budget at present.

Officers of the council were elected as follows: Dr. J. R. McCain, president of Agnes Scott College, president; succeeding J. P. Faulkner; Major J. Arthur Penn, Salvation Army, first vice president; Mrs. Harold B. Wey, second vice president, and the following executive committee: E. M. Kahn, Miss Mary Newell, G. K. Solien, Miss Rhoda Kaufman, W. Henry Smith, Forrester B. Washington, Mrs. Armand Wyle, and executive officers of the Community Chest as ex-officio members. Frank Miller was re-elected secretary and treasurer.

FLORIDANS ADVANCE BOOM FOR REPROGUE

Yellow Badges Issued to Supporters of Vice Presidential Aspirant.

BY OLIVER S. MORTON. CHICAGO, June 15.—(P)—Florida injected an added touch of color to the republican national convention activities today when delegates appeared with yellow badges boosting the vice presidential candidacy of J. Leonard Replogle.

These were the first such ribbons to appear in the interest of any of several men whose names have been proposed for possible acceptance as President Hoover's running mate.

Many former Floridians called at headquarters and left wearing badges on their coat lapels. Among the callers was B. M. Angle, formerly a newspaperman of Haines City, and now a resident of Chicago.

While badges were being given out at headquarters, other members of the Florida delegation were contacting delegates from other states and reported indications that several other delegations would give their initial support to Replogle.

Explorer Sails. COPENHAGEN, Denmark, June 15.—(P)—Doctor Laue Koch, one of Denmark's most daring explorers, sailed today with the first of several expeditions which will continue this country's scientific work in Greenland this summer.

HIGH COURT UPHOLDS CONVICTION OF SLAYER

The sentence of death imposed by the Thomas county superior court on Joe Groves for the slaying of H. A. White, deputy sheriff, was upheld Wednesday by the Georgia supreme court.

Groves, who was indicted along with three other members of his family, Luvania, Annie and Nettie Groves, was convicted of shooting White when the latter entered his home to serve a warrant. The state charged Groves fired the shot while the women held the officer. The jury returned a verdict of guilty without recommendation for mercy, which automatically carries the death penalty.

The other three indicted have not been tried.

TRUST COMPANY WINS BROOKS WILL ACTION

The will of the late Richard P. Brooks, of Forsyth, Ga., involving the bulk of a $250,000 estate which was contested by several distant relatives, was upheld in a decision by Judge George Newton, of the Monroe county ordinary's court at Forsyth Tuesday.

Suit was brought against the Trust Company of Georgia, which had been appointed executor of the will. The trust company was to provide a board of trustees for the operation and maintenance of a ladies home in Forsyth. Relatives brought suit on the grounds of undue influence and mental incapacity. The will was upheld and the Trust Company of Georgia won the decision.

J. W. MERRITT LEAVES FOR BAPTIST MEETING

James W. Merritt, executive secretary-treasurer of the Georgia Baptist convention and Georgia representative on the promotion committee, left Wednesday night for Nashville, Tenn., where today he will attend a meeting of the promotion committee of southern Baptists. This committee is the agency through which the promotion of all missionary, benevolent and educational work of the Southern Baptist convention is carried on and also is the agency through which the southern convention co-operates with the various states in the promotion of their state denominational programs.

TROLLEY TICKETS AT 2 FOR 15 CENTS SOUGHT IN ATLANTA

Atlanta street car patrons will be able to buy two tickets for 15 cents if plans of William H. Withers, attorney, materialize.

Mr. Withers requested permission of Preston S. Arkwright, president of the Georgia Power Company, operators of the street car system, for chain stores, drugstores and other business houses to buy fare tickets in quantities and resell them at two for 15 cents. Tickets obtained from the power company or its representatives must be bought in lots of four for 30 cents in order to save the cost of a straight 10-cent fare.

Mr. Arkwright said that the company would be glad to sell business houses the tickets at quantity prices and that they might be sold at any price the merchants cared to ask for them—so long as they aren't sold at more than 10 cents each. He added that several business firms have been distributing car tickets at reduced prices.

and that their representatives in the Congress pledge themselves to these principles, to the end that the insidious influences of party disintegration may not undermine the very foundations of the republic.

Conclusion.

"In contrast with the republican policies and record, we contrast those of the democratic as evidenced by the action of the house of representatives under democratic leadership and control, which includes:

1. The issuance of fiat currency;

2. Instructions to the federal reserve board and the secretary of the treasury to attempt to manipulate commodity prices;

3. The guarantee of bank deposits;

4. The squandering of the public resources and the unbalancing of the budget through 'pork-barrel' appropriations which bear little relation to progress and would tend through depressed business revival to decrease rather than increase employment.

"Generally, on economic matters, we side the republican party;

1. To maintain unimpaired the national credit.
2. To defend and preserve a sound currency and an honest dollar.
3. To stand steadfastly by the principle of a balanced budget.
4. To devote ourselves fearlessly and unremittingly to the task of eliminating abuses and extravagance and drastically cutting the cost of government so as to reduce the heavy burden of taxation.
5. To use all available means consistent with sound financial and economic principles to increase the production of wealth.

6. To a thorough study of the conditions which permitted the credit and the credit machinery of the country to be made available without adequate check for wholesale speculation securities, resulting in ruinous consequences to millions of our citizens and to the national economy, and to rectify those conditions so that they will not recur.

Recognizing that real relief to unemployment must come through a realignment of industrial activity and agriculture, to the promotion of which every effort must be directed, our duty to state and nation undertakes to do all in its power that is humanly possible to see that distress is fully relieved in accordance with American principles and traditions.

No successful solution of the problems before the country today can be effected from a congress and a president separated by partisan lines, or posed in purposes and principles.

possibility cannot be placed unless clear mandate is given by returning Washington a congress and a chief executive united in principles and program. The return to power of the republican party with that mandate is the duty of every voter who believes the doctrines of the party and its program as herein stated. Nothing less, we believe, will insure the orderly recovery of the country and that return to prosperity which every american so ardently desires.

The republican party faces the responsibility.

With courage and confidence in mate success, we will strive al and economic ideals, our politinstitutions."

G. O. P. Gathered at Own Funeral, Russell, Key Tell Democratic Body

The meeting in Chicago is not a republican convention; it is a funeral service for republican misrule and preferential laws, Governor Richard B. Russell Jr., Mayor James L. Key and other leaders Wednesday night told members of the city executive committee at the Piedmont hotel.

In announcing that the last year has been the most successful in the history of the city executive committee, Dr. Samuel Green, chairman, said that candidates in the last city primary are being refunded 25 per cent of their entrance fees, as compared with 20 per cent in the previous primary.

Prediction of a sweeping democratic victory in the national election was made by Mayor Key as well as by Governor Russell. Mayor Key feels doubly assured of a democratic triumph by virtue of the fact that the two parties have reversed their usual positions and the republicans "are fussing and the democrats are in harmony."

Hits "Hoover Democrats." Mayor Key belittled the selfish man as "too small to be president," and said "thank heaven the Hoover democrats are now extinct." The mayor drew attention to the need of having one registration system instead of several so as to avoid confusion. He lamented the fact that thousands of substantial citizens are disfranchised in these times because of their inability to pay heavy property taxes and that others, who have nothing, can vote on payment of poll taxes. "Thrift should not be penalized," Mayor Key said. "I would rather see a penalty on the man or woman who does not vote."

Governor Russell saw "a victory for democracy with Roosevelt," and attacked the control of wealth by a few under republican rule. He scored the holding from America a greatly needed $250,000,000, and charged that republican depression relief "commences at the top with the slim chance that a few grains may sift down to the poor man who needs relief the worst." Not one American has been put to work as the result of the formation of the Reconstruction Corporation, but a big bill has been saddled upon the people, he said.

Governor Russell accused the republicans of unloading the debts of Europe on this country, creating and enjoying a huge pork barrel, and enacting legislation bearing the stamp of privilege.

Chairmen Called Together. — Attorney-General Lawrence Camp, chairman of the state democratic executive committee, called attention to the duties and responsibilities of democrats in supporting party nominees, and announced that Dr. Green's suggestion for organization of a closely knit state democracy through the chairmen of the various executive committees will be carried out with the calling of a meeting of the chairmen on the day before the state convention in Macon.

Hewitt W. Chambers, secretary of the Fulton county executive committee, gave Mayor Key credit for "starting the ball rolling in the present prohibition discussion in the national parties," and said that there are no differences between the county and state executive committees in spite of the attack on the county committee by a local group.

Dr. Green was presented with a fountain pen and pencil set by Committeemen Joe Bush and William Bentley on behalf of the executive committee in appreciation of his services. Speakers congratulated the committee on the showing made during the year.

Culbertson on Contract Defence Against Game Bids

BY ELY CULBERTSON, World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

In hands containing long suits, the element of defense against an adverse bid is reduced to its lowest point. The very length of the predominant suit makes it improbable that the hand will take many tricks. If it is finally played at another declaration. Hence, with this type of hand, a Pre-emptive game bid is usually the best method of handling the situation.

Defense, however, marches with attack, and those who play Bridge and study the science of bidding always seek to find some method of coping effectively with the situation thus presented. The problem of building a bidding defense to Pre-emptive bids is an extremely difficult one, even though the opposing players hold great strength in other suits. Finally, in consultation with Messrs. Edward Hynes Jr., John Rau, Oswald Jacoby, Louis H. Watson and William J. Huske, interested in the development of correct bidding methods, I have devised a new bid to meet this situation. It is the bid of the necessary number of notrump to overcall the adverse game, in order to justify this bid, the hand must be strong indeed—otherwise the losses would be severe—and must be prepared for a response, however weak partner's hand may be. The player using this bid must either have a strong escape suit of his own or be prepared for any response his partner may make.

A riveting illustration of the value of this bid came up in a New York club in a duplicate game, on the following hand:

West's hand is practically assured of 8 tricks with spades as trump. The game bid is fully justified. As will be seen, North can make a response in any suit from partner. His hand is a most unusual one with two strong five-card suits. The question of finding the best declaration is to determine

Women Sponsors Fund

The Council of Jewish Women will sponsor a milk fund for undernourished children of school age, and Mrs. Maurice Jacobus, chairman of the social service committee, urges mothers interested to communicate with her at once so that sufficient funds may be secured to take care of the cases.

Mrs. Jacobus supplied approximately 40 undernourished children with a pint of milk for lunch at public schools during the school year and is eager to continue the supply at their respective homes during the summer months. The cases are thoroughly investigated before arrangements are made to deliver the milk and only those children whose parents are not able to buy the milk are the recipients.

The cost is only 5 cents per day and anyone interested in caring for one or more children is requested to phone Mrs. Jacobus at Hemlock 5675, or mail a check for $1.40 for the month's supply. This is a fitting tribute to make in honor of a person or an occasion in co-operation with this worthy type of work that the committee has undertaken.

FRIENDLY COUNSEL

BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

EAR MISS CHATFIELD: We were happily engaged. I had support two members of my family, so the engagement had to be a one. Financial reverses which were the order of the day, were met by my family. A large sum of money was to be raised immediately by her or dire consequences would be suffered by an invalid wife and other small children. To raise the sum the girl married a rich acquaintance. She respected the man still does. She naturally feels grateful to him for coming to her rescue and that of her family. Since marriage her father has deserted mother and she has to keep up the family. On a recent visit to her mother I saw her and we had a talk. She is miserable. She has tried twice to learn to love her husband. Because she is so unhappy with him and because it is necessary for her to have more money for her family she is considering leaving her husband and taking a job that would make her independent of him.

Of course his feelings are to be considered. But should this girl pay the rest of her life, pay in utter misery for an act which she committed in generosity, thinking she could justify it by making a success of her marriage? I don't think she should, but I love her and fear my opinion may be colored by prejudice. The girl is willing to sacrifice her happiness but I don't believe that the satisfaction attained by fulfilling a moral and religious obligation would warrant the unhappiness that would be brought to all concerned. What are your views?

ANSWER: Then, my friend, you must approve the action taken by the people who absconded with Lindbergh's cash without returning the baby. The thing you propose for this woman to do is much the same. She and her family have profited by the cash put up by a believing husband. They used his money to avert a disaster financial that threatened them. The woman bargained to give him love for cash and now having got the cash and spent it she plays with the thought of announcing to him that she has no love for him, but rather for another, so the bargain is off and he can make the best of it.

There is something infinitely pathetic about a young man's having had to turn his back upon love and happiness because he inherited (he didn't incur it of his own accord.)

an obligation from his father to support his mother and sister. However, sympathy with him in his disappointment doesn't suggest that he has any moral right to break up a marriage which his former fiancée contracted in good faith. Sympathy suggests quite another course. It is this: Let that story be a closed book. The happiness of another man's wife is not his responsibility and he can't find his own by trying to secure hers.

The thought of the old love may produce a momentary intoxication. But the deep satisfaction of having fulfilled a moral obligation to oneself and to others will last as long as life itself. The memory of the renunciation forced upon him by economic conditions may be a bitter one. But the plan to take back the thing renounced is a guilty one, and cannot sweeten the bitter memory nor create happiness for anybody.

Then she meets Michael Morris, a dissipated young playwright. It's love at first sight. She feels his need of her is real. Retiring home one evening, Emmie finds Michael waiting for her. He'd been drinking heavily. Emmie takes him home in a cab, but finds he has no key and can't get in. In desperation she takes him to a hotel and registers as his wife. Claire Cowley, Emmie's sister, tells Emmie that Michael is engaged. But when Michael calls, Emmie goes to see him. He tells her his engagement is broken and he wants to marry her. Emmie tries unsuccessfully to break with him, who accuses her of double-dipping him and threatens to have Lew send for her. Emmie drives out to the country with him, and he promises freedom for Lew if she will spend the week-end with him. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

INSTALLMENT XVIII.

She knew what he meant. He was thinking about Jimmy, and about her own unexplained behavior. She would not explain—yet Michael must be happy, this last time together. As he helped her over the fence, out of that dangerous mood, she seized him round the neck, laid her cheek against his.

"If you love me, you'll be happy. Michael, make it be a happy divorce. I'll sign it." He unclasped her hands and kissed them.

"Pyne!" he called.

"Pyne, you know that Swiss Lodge place?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, go there, will you?"

"Yes, said Pyne. "I'm afraid, sir, we'll have to stop for gas and oil."

"That's nothing much to be afraid of," said Michael.

They passed through a little town, and Emmie drove away from him, sat up straight with her hands clasped. She had left her gloves behind somewhere; she had nothing with her, only a dollar bill in her coat pocket.

"What are you going to say to Claire? I mean—why you're bringing me?"

"I haven't got around to that yet," he said.

"But leave it to me." She can't help thinking it's queer—if I come without any bag, or anything, to spend the night."

"Let her," said Michael, and frowned.

"We don't want Pyne around," he said. "He gets on my nerves. And anyhow—" He paused. "There's something queer about Pyne," he said with a frown. "Anyhow, nothing's any of his business."

She knew how Michael felt. He couldn't endure that the least breath of suspicion should tarnish his beloved Emmie. He wished to deny, to Pyne, to every one, that there had been anything at all out of the way in the events of this afternoon. She did not ask him then, or at any time, how he had accounted to Pyne for the happenings at Gallani's. She saw that he wanted everything now to be entirely correct and formal, and her only wish was to help him.

"I'm going to leave you at this inn," Michael went on. "Then I'm going to get Pyne to drive me to the railway station. I told him you had an aunt stopping there, and that I'm going back to New York to dinner. And he's to go back to Claire's. Then, as soon as he's out of the way, I'll get a taxi and come back to you. That all right, darling?"

"It's an awfully good plan, Michael!" she said, and thought: "Pyne won't believe a word of it." But she did not care. They drove, in the gathering dusk, in a lonely little inn in the hills. Michael helped her out, and they entered. She was proud now, tall, straight, in her that number now, and was informed by a feminine voice that Mr. Considine did not answer.

She left the booth and went up the stairs, ran up, in fear that Michael should come before she got there, in greater fear that he would not come. Fifteen minutes had gone. Was he coming safely back to her. Or was he to die?

"I'll send a telegram," she thought. She dared not go down to the desk again. Michael might find her there. She called the desk, and asked for two telegraph blanks to be sent up. She sent one to Gallani's hotel, and one to his New York address. "Want to see you Monday and explain. Please call my office tomorrow morning, Emmie."

She insisted upon paying for them at once, and that took considerable time and trouble.

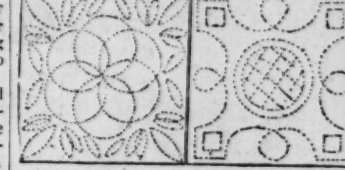

Three-quarters of an hour gone now. If one of those boys had been sent to follow Michael, had caught up with him alone. The wind, Emmie thought, had grown chill, terrible to hear as it rustled in the trees.

ATLANTA, GA., THURSDAY MORNING, JUNE 16, 1932.

FIRST SPORTS EACH DAY

Giants Defeat Cubs, 6 to 3, and Move Into Fourth Position

THREE ATLANTA PITCHERS QUALIFY FOR SOUTHERN LEAGUE

It was a spring day in 1908 and New York at the Polo Grounds.

There was a mild interest in the stands—one of John McGraw's pitching finds was going to pitch. This was a bit different—McGraw had paid the $11,000 for this one—"The $11,000 Beauty"—no one had ever paid that much for just a ball player. What was baseball coming to, anyhow?

It was a rocky road that year, for "The $11,000 Beauty" was to become "McGraw's $11,000 Lemon" before the year was done. But McGraw had faith and after that one year the pitcher came along to become one of the greatest left-handers in the game, winning 19 straight in 1912 for a record that has stood since that time with no one making an assault on it.

From 1909 until 1920 he was a major league factor. And tonight, 24 years after he came to the big show heralded as "The $11,000 Beauty," Rube Marquard is to appear on the mound again, peering at the plate for the signs, drawing back in his windup and letting the ball go toward the waiting batter.

There is much drama in the prospect and tonight there may be a little stinging in the eyes of some of the older fans as they watch the tall, gangling figure walk out to the mound and pitch up the ball. Twenty-four years isn't so long as years go, but it is a long time in baseball where any sun-landed youngster of 30 is getting along to be an old man.

Pitchers never believe they are too old to go and Rube Marquard has something to back his claim. There are Ray Caldwell, the genuine grandfather; Bob Hasty, the old-timer; Elmer Jacobs, Jimmy Walkup and Duster Mails, all of them as old in the game as the Rube.

At any rate, Rube Marquard merits the hand he will get tonight when he marches to the hill. It will be quite an event and one wonders, as he bends back in the windup, if his mind will go back just one fleeting second through the 24 years to the day when he was taking the mound as "The $11,000 Beauty," the highest priced baseball man in the game.

At any rate, here's to you, Rube. May it be a shutout and a great game. And may the boys all go back and sit down as you pitch through the remainder of the season. You've forgot ten more than most of them know.

THAT RECORD STANDS.

Lefty Grove is the most persistent chaser after the record left by Marquard in 1912. The great southpaw won 16 straight for the Athletics last season. This year finds him with 11 straight already in the bag. It's Rube's mark he's shooting for.

There is no question but what Marquard won 20 games in 1912. Most of the average books give him 19, but the official account of the season shows he really won 20. The All-Sports record book contains the following explanation:

Richard "Rube" Marquard won 20 straight in 1912, according to Al Munro, Elias' famous statistician. Elias explains:

"On April 20 after Marquard had won two straight, he acted as a relief pitcher for Jeff Tressau in the ninth inning against Brooklyn. The score was New York 2, Brooklyn 0 as the ninth started. Brooklyn scored three runs off Tressau in the ninth, giving them a 3-to-2 lead when Marquard relieved Tressau. There was no one when Marquard went in. He retired the side without a hit or run. In the Giants' half Groh singled off Rucker and Wilson won the game with a home run, scoring Groh ahead of him. Final score, New York 4, Brooklyn 3.

"Just why Marquard did not get credit for that victory I do not know unless an error was made by the official scorer in crediting the victory to Tressau instead of Marquard. In a game on July 12, when Marquard again went in for relief work with his team trailing, they won out and he was given credit for the win. The cases were identical and Marquard would seem to deserve a record of 20 consecutive victories instead of 19."

Baseball powers—that he should take some action and make those 20 games official.

THAT TITLE FIGHT.

Reports have it that Jack Sharkey's best lick is still that right-hand punch, the one which floored the gargantuan Carnera. But they do say that he is doing a terrific lot of belting during the in-fighting, bringing up rights and lefts, and pounding the body.

All of which means that someone will drop. Because Schmeling fights the same way. One of the most surprising things which Stribling met in the fight with the champion last July was the punishing in-fighting. Schmeling literally softened up Stribling by his continuous pounding on the body. It isn't hard to yet visualize those growing red spots on Stribling's sides and stomach which meant the ebbing of strength.

IT'S A REAL ANTIQUE NOW.

A certain young lady had been wanting a certain chair for weeks. And at last it was delivered. And placed in its proper place. And, you have no idea how much it improved the room. It was delivered two days ago. And yesterday, the cook, who weighs 300 pounds, decided to try it and sat down.

It will be a swell antique if they can glue it together again. But it looks hopeless.

BAD—OR GOOD—FOR FLEAS.

At Panama City recently we watched Bob Sealy's bird dogs take their regular morning swim in the bay.

"The salt water is fine for fleas," said Sealy.

"No," said another, "it's bad for them."

Take your own side of the argument. But good or bad for them the dogs have no fleas.

GIANTS VICTORS OVER CUBS, 6-3; VERGEZ HOMERS

Herman's Error Allows 2 Runs; Terry Singles for Run.

NEW YORK, June 15.—(AP)—Billy Herman's error in the eighth inning ignited the fuse that blew the Chicago Cubs' lead to pieces today and the Giants scored five runs in one frame to defeat the league leaders, 6 to 3, in the first game of their series.

The victory brought the Giants' average up to .500 for the first time this season. They ran their winning streak to six games. It put them into fourth place, ahead of Brooklyn.

For the first seven innings Pat Malone allowed only three hits and one run, a homer by Johnny Vergez in the third. The Cubs hit Fred Fitzsimmons hard enough to get a 3-1 lead.

Big Frank Hogan opened the eighth with a single. A walk and Critz' single filled the sacks but two were out before there was any real trouble. Then Herman let Freddy Lindstrom's easy grounder slip through him and two runs came home to tie the score.

Manager Billy Terry snatched a single for another run and then came scratch singles by Ott and Jackson, each of which sent home another tally. The inning ended when Eban Allen, who had run for Hogan, came to bat and forced Ott to third.

Chicago got a run in the first on a double by Woody English and Herman's single, and two in the fifth when Malone singled and Herman and Riggs Stephenson hit two-baggers.

Rick Cuyler made his first appearance in the Cubs' starting lineup since he was injured April 24 and failed to get a hit.

BY JOHN J. COOLEY

NEW YORK, June 15.—(P)—Fortified by assurances that the American banking system had successfully withstood the strain of huge gold exports, now virtually at an end, security markets made a bolder bid for confidence today.

As stocks the tone was strong. In bonds there was a trend toward higher prices among corporate issues, while United States governments rallied briskly. Shares took news of the bonus bill resting on assumption that obvious would not get by the senate.

The stock market closed within net gains of 1 to 3 points. Cotton advanced 15 to 18 points under the influence of a premium for borrowing purposes. Case gained more than 2 points. Coca-Cola and American Tobacco gained at least 2 points. Sales totaled 1,154,000 shares.

Wall Street was highly pleased by the turn in the rate situation. Iron Age said the rate of steel in got output had fallen to 100,000 tons, but believed final disposition of legislative matters and adjournment of congress would make their mark on the market.

Electric power production last week was 11.5 per cent under a year ago, the most favorable comparison in more than a month.

Foreign exchange movements were narrower, but favored dollars.

Foreign Markets

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

PARIS.—Prices of French bonds were lower and the Young Loan was weaker and interest rates were weak.

BERLIN.—Trading listless and the opening was irregularly weak. Prices recovered at the close.
